

Local flight school adds four-day introductory course

LOCK HAVEN - AvSport of Lock Haven, the flight school on Lock Haven's Piper Memorial Airport, has announced Flight FUNdamentals, a new mini-course for those interested in trying their hand at Sport Aviation.

The four-day flight experience is designed to allow prospective students to sample the wonders of the sky.

"Many who have considered flight training don't really know if it's going to appeal to them," notes Prof. H. Paul Shuch, the school's founder and Chief Flight Instructor. "Nobody wants to commit to months of effort, and thousands of dollars in costs, without first finding out whether he or she has the Right Stuff. Flight FUNdamentals provides a painless introduction to flight training, at modest cost and with minimal commitment."

The Flight FUNdamentals curriculum includes four hours of flight instruction and eight hours of individualized ground instruction, as well as all the books, pilot supplies, and training materials the student will need to continue on to becoming a fully licensed Sport Pilot.

"This course encompasses the first 20% of our standard Sport Pilot training curriculum," states Shuch. "It provides a far more thorough overview than can be accomplished in a simple one-hour introductory lesson, yet doesn't require one to sign up for a whole flight training curriculum. We even throw in a free visit to Lock Haven's famous Piper Aviation Museum. Whether your goal is to earn that pilot's license, or merely to check off a line on your bucket list, Flight FUNdamentals is an adventure you'll never forget."

Affording maximum flexibility to meet any student's scheduling needs, the course can be pursued over four consecutive days, as one lesson a week for a month, or as two weekly lessons over a two week period. AvSport provides lodging assistance.

Interested parties may contact the flight school at (570) 748-3725 for further details.

Aspiring Sport Pilots are invited to browse AvSport's extensive website, <http://AvSport.org>, for a wealth of free training material.
